

Guardian Unlimited Ethical fashion - shoes (13 pictures)

Thumbnail view

More ethical fashion

Summer dresses

Fairtrade jewellery

Summer tops

Men's t-shirts

Stylish bags

More on...

Life and style

Fashion

News

Fair trade

Hide

Shoes are a bit of a tricky one for the ethical shopper. Until recently it was nigh on impossible to buy a pair of fancy shoes that weren't leather. Sturdy boots and sensible slip-ons were the only option. Thank god for the likes of Hetty Rose and Terra Plana, who now make the most covetable shoes imaginable, and all from recycled materials. Terra Plana even recycle scraps from leather car seats. Handmade, vintage-sourced shoes don't come cheap, but they are very beautiful. And think of the clear conscience you'll have.

1 / 13

'Imari' Vintage Kimono Shoes, £320.00

Leather lining and sole

Made to order, takes 5-8 weeks

hettyrose.co.uk

Hetty Rose

9 / 13

'Kimiko' Vintage Kimono Shoes, £320.00

Leather lining and sole

Made to order, takes 5-8 weeks

hettyrose.co.uk

10 / 13

'Amia' Vintage Kimono Shoes, £320.00

Leather lining and sole

Made to order, takes 5-8 weeks

hettyrose.co.uk

4 / 13

Hetty Rose 'Yuki' shoes, £320.00

Leather lining and sole, fabric upper

Made to order, takes 5-8 weeks

hettyrose.co.uk