THIS WEEK WE'RE LOVING...

Natural choice: bra, £40 (matching knickers, £17)

... THE NEW BODAS STORE IN SPITALFIELDS

Its Maquillage lingerie is one of the best new buys of the season: a pretty alternative to flesh-coloured undies, which, let's be honest, can sometimes lack sex appeal. Bodas's blush-pink colour disappears under white clothing, and is ultra-feminine.

Bodas, 43 Brushfield Street, E1 (020 7655 0958)

... HETTY ROSE BESPOKE SHOES

This shoe collection blends exquisite antique fabric with on-trend shoe styles to create a personal and unique pair of shoes.

Whether it's the addition of a bow or an eye-catchingly bright print, London College of Fashion graduate Hetty Rose gives the most ordinary of footwear a show-stopping makeover. Shoe lovers can commission the designer to create their perfect pair from £320.

... RAY-BAN

With more comebacks than Kylie, you don't have to be a fashion expert to work out that Ray-Ban sunglasses are back on the style radar. From the classic Aviator to the celeb favourite Wayfarer style, it seems everyone is wearing them (or a pair that look like them) again. The epitome of cool this summer, Ray-Ban is teaming up with Hyde Park's O2 Wireless Festival next weekend to host the VIP lounge, and is offering 150 festival-goers the chance to exchange their old shades for a brand new pair of Ray-Ban Wayfarers or Aviators just for registering on their website. You can't say fairer than that. For more details, visit www.neverhide.co.uk.
