

New bloom for Hetty Rose

● Bespoke made-to-order footwear label Hetty Rose unveils its debut ready-to-wear footwear collection this month.

"The ready-to-wear range takes the essence of our bespoke, handmade shoes in our signature vintage kimono fabric style so that clients can buy without having to wait six to eight weeks for bespoke shoes," says designer Henrietta Rose Samuels.

Taking inspiration from the vintage fabrics that have become the signature of the brand's bespoke designs, the collection aims to make Hetty Rose's hallmark style accessible to a wider range of retailers and consumers.
